

Soha Bahgat Farag
Capacity Building and Training Advisor to the Minister of Tourism,
Ministry of Tourism Egypt

Farag is a PhD holder in tourism economy from faculty of tourism and hotels management Helwan University. She had her bachelor's degree in Tourism and Hotels management.. She also has PMP international, a certificate in the development and design of educational programs in addition to the certificate of completion of the program of enhancement of leadership abilities and fighting against corruption.

Dr. Soha has more than 18 years of experience in the vocational training and academia in the tourism sector. During the period from 2014 and 2017 she worked in the Technical and Vocational Education and Training program (TVETII) as the Tourism sector manager. During this period, she managed the task force and teams responsible for technical and vocational training in both the Ministry of Tourism and the Ministry of Education. She also helped in optimizing and strengthening the operational programs in vocational and technical training through working on curriculums and training programs to meet the market needs and develop the educational institutions in their infrastructure and the necessary tools, also helped in transitioning hotel school students from learning theoretical concepts to working in the tourism field.

Since 2007, Dr. Soha worked as a lecturer and held management level positions in Egyptian Universities and High Institutes, she was head of tourism studies and hotel management department. She has several publications in tourism field in Arabic, English and French.

Dr. Soha is a member of the National Authority for Quality Assurance of Education and Accreditation of the Tourism Sector. She is also a member of the Executive Council for the Development of Technical Education and Vocational Training. A member in the AUF (Agence Universitaire de la Francophonie). Finally, a member in the National Committee for Sectoral Qualifications.